

The Work Number[®] from Equifax[®]

A comprehensive database of employer provided consumer employment and income information

Eliminate the hassle of collecting front-end paperwork when you verify applicant employment and income information via The Work Number - a service provided by Equifax through Origence Information Services. The Work Number allows you to verify income and employment faster than ever, increasing borrower satisfaction while speeding up loan processing.

How it works:

The Work Number provides your credit union with quick access to proof of income following a member's application. This enables your credit union to streamline lending by getting you the information you need without the hassle of collecting pay stubs and W-2's.

Plus, with seamless integration at multiple points and places in the origination process, you can access The Work Number wherever best fits your credit union's needs.

Reduce the amount of time and paperwork needed to complete due diligence

Increase loan pull-through with a faster and easier borrower experience

Mitigate risk with direct employer-provided information
